Kansas City 2010: Call for Presentations

The Conference Committee of the Stained Glass Association of America is requesting proposals for lectures and demonstrations for the 101st Annual Conference in Kansas City, Missouri, that will incorporate the theme of “A New Way in a New Day.”

This Conference is going to present sessions on the different aspects that those working in our field are faced with, including: new design, technique, conservation, history of the medium, CAD drawing, digital photography, and any other related materials and business practices. The deadline for proposal submissions is June 1, 2009.

Proposed presentations should be 30 to 35 minutes in length, with additional time for questions. Presentations are not to be a studio’s show-and-tell but rather an educational experience for all attendees. Areas such as architectural relationships, marketing in this digital age, ethical business practices, multimedia glass designs, website development and advertising, and other areas of exploration relevant to the operation and success of today’s studios will all be reviewed.

All sessions will take place on Tuesday, June 29, 2010.

Please join us in sharing your expertise with others in our Association’s quest to maintain the highest levels of professionalism, tradition, and growth.

To submit a proposal:

- Include your name, studio affiliation, address, phone number, email address, and website (if available).
- The proposed format of the presentation, (e.g., lecture, demonstration, panel, etc.).
- Title of the presentation.
- A brief description of the presentation ideas (maximum two pages).

Email all the above to sgaa@kcnet.com no later than June 1, 2009.
